

SUNDAY TEACHING SERIES

“My message and My preaching were not with wise and persuasive words, but with demonstration of the Spirit’s power, so that your faith might not rest on men’s wisdom, but on God’s power.”

1 Corinthians 2:4-5

REVOLUTIONARY

Sunday, January 10 – Sunday, March 28, 2021

The Gospel of Matthew contains some of the most revolutionary words of Jesus ever recorded. It’s known as The Sermon On The Mount. Never before had anyone heard teaching with such authority. Jesus gave such a compelling vision for what it really meant to live for God that it turned conventional thinking upside down. Not only that, but when we live according to these teachings, we too will be revolutionary for Him today.

Message: Revolutionary Light (Matthew 5:13-16) & Communion

Teacher: Robert P. Hahn

Jesus opened this teaching by telling us who we are – salt and light. The witness of our lives flavors the world and gives light to the darkness. It was true then, and it is true now. How we live demonstrates to the world Who we live for. Living for Christ revolutionizes the world around us.

Message: Revolutionary Thoughts (Matthew 5:21-30)

Teacher: Robert P. Hahn

When does a sin really become a sin? When we do it? When we say it? According to Jesus, it’s even earlier than that. It all starts with nothing more than a thought. And in the end, what we say and what we do is more than a reflection of our thoughts. It’s a reflection of our hearts.

Message: Revolutionary Care (Matthew 5:31-32)

Teacher: Nathan A. LaBorie

In one of the most misunderstood passages in the Bible, Jesus gives a concise, direct teaching on the hurt caused by divorce. And these two verses have themselves been inaccurately used to inflict even more pain. Because in the larger context of this revolutionary teaching, these two verses mean so much more.

Message: Revolutionary Words (Matthew 5:33-37)

Teacher: Robert P. Hahn

“I promise!” “I swear!” How many promises like that have we broken? Broken promises to others; broken promises to God . . . Yet, Jesus’ challenge to anyone who would choose to follow Him is that our simple “yes” or “no” be enough. That we would be known as a people of integrity. What would it take for us to revolutionize our words?

Message: Revolutionary Love (Matthew 5:38-48)

Teacher: Robert P. Hahn

So, you show kindness to your friends? You love someone who loves you back? Big deal. According to Jesus, anybody can do that. So He takes it up a notch. Jesus taught that we're called to love our enemies. But here's the real catch. It's not for us, and not even for them, but for Him. It's His reputation on the line, not ours. It was revolutionary then and it's still just as revolutionary today.

Message: Revolutionary Motive (Matthew 6:1-18) & Communion

Teacher: Nathan A. LaBorie

We all know people who love to brag about their generosity, prayer life, and overall spiritual maturity. But Jesus said such boasting isn't anything more than a selfish desire for recognition. Perhaps even worse – Jesus taught that such people have already received all the reward they're going to get. This week, it's time for all of us to check our motive.

Message: Revolutionary Treasure (Matthew 6:19-24)

Teacher: Robert P. Hahn

With incredible insight and accuracy, Jesus speaks to the core of the human condition – that our hearts follow our treasure, not the other way around. And there's no way to fake that. Despite whatever we claim is important to us, whatever we claim to truly value, whatever we claim to cherish, the truth of the matter is that the presence of our heart will be evidenced in our lives.

Message: Revolutionary Peace (Matthew 6:25-34)

Teacher: Robert P. Hahn

“... do not worry about your life ...” In just six words, Jesus lays down the toughest challenge of all – to not worry about life. Jesus' point is that we were not designed for worry, but peace. And pursuing God's will for our lives is the path to revolutionary peace.

Message: Revolutionary Measure (Matthew 7:1-6)

Teacher: Nathan A. LaBorie

“Do not judge, or you too will be judged.” It’s a popular refrain these days. And it is true! But it’s only the first part of Jesus’ teaching. Jesus teaches that by looking into our own lives, we can be instruments of mercy and grace to others. Because the truly revolutionary part of His teaching is not the judgment, but the standard by which we measure.

Message: Revolutionary Way (Matthew 7:13-14) & Communion

Teacher: Robert P. Hahn

One thing that makes the teachings of Jesus so revolutionary is the boldness with which He preached. He tells it like it is and never holds back. And these two short verses are no exception – a person is either on the road to life or the road to destruction. There is no middle ground. But there is good news. Not only can the way be found, the Way is Someone we can know.

Message: Revolutionary Reputation (Matthew 7:15-23)

Teacher: Robert P. Hahn

“Not everyone who says to me, ‘Lord, Lord’ will enter the kingdom of Heaven.” These are some of the most sobering words ever spoken by Jesus. Because in the Kingdom, it’s not who you claim to know, but Who claims to know you. Who holds your reputation?

Message: Revolutionary Foundation (Matthew 7:24-28)

Teacher: Nathan A. LaBorie

Anyone can hear the teachings of Jesus. But Jesus was also clear that not everyone will have the courage to live them out. Which is why Jesus closes out this revolutionary sermon with one final challenge: what is the foundation for your life?
